

Ocean Pollution

By Cristina Mifsud Bons – Year 5.1
St. Nicholas College, Rabat Primary, Malta
April 2019

Permission Letters

To: Regional Coordinator for Europe

Matt Billot

Science Division

UN Environment

matthew.billot@unep.org

Dear Mr. Billot,

I am a 9-year-old school girl, working on a research project about ocean pollution. 6 children in our class, including me, were chosen to represent our school in a national exhibition.

With my father's help, who is a web developer, I would like to create my own web page for my research project to be shown during the exhibition.

I would like to ask you for permission to include photos found in the UN Environment facebook page. My father and I could not find any other person to ask, or send a message through the Facebook page. I hope that it is OK that I'm sending you this email.

The photos we would like to use are the following:

<https://www.facebook.com/unenvironment/photos/a.418240325711/10155322000500712/?type=3&theater>

<https://www.facebook.com/unenvironment/photos/a.418240325711/10156604230080712/?type=3&theater>

We would make sure to include them referencing the United Nations Environment, copyright and website. If you wish I can also send you the link to the web page my father and I will create once it is ready.

Thanks and regards,

Cristina Mifsud Bons
Year 5.1
St. Nicholas College
Rabat, Malta

Mark Grassi <mark.grassi@un.org>

Mon, 6 May,
17:24 (4 days ago)

to Matthew, Alejandro, me

Dear Ms Bons,

Thank you very much for reaching out and for sharing this excellent initiative! You may certainly use the two infographics you shared.

We would be happy to see your webpage when it is ready.

All the best,

The UN Environment Europe Office

To: Sheri Amsel
exploringnature.org

Dear Ms.Amsel,

I am a 9-year-old school girl, working on a research project about ocean pollution. 6 children in our class, including me, were chosen to represent our school in a national exhibition.

I have used one of your web pages (<https://www.exploringnature.org/db/view/Ocean-Pollution-Questions-from-School-Kids>) as one of my many sources, and referenced it in my bibliography. With my father's help, who is a web developer, I would like to create my own web page for my research project to be shown during the exhibition.

I would like to ask you for permission to include your picture found in your web page. I would make sure to include it as is with your name, copyright and website. If you wish I can also send you the link to the web page my father and I will create once it is ready.

Thanks and regards,

Cristina Mifsud Bons
Year 5.1
St Nicholas College
Rabat, Malta

Dear Christina (and Dad),

Congratulations on being chosen to represent your school. You may absolutely use my art. I am pleased to help with such an important topic. Thanks for helping to educate people about our oceans in crisis. I will add your site link to my website once it's up, if you would like. I look forward to seeing it.

Best wishes,

Sheri Amsel

Exploring Nature Educational Resource, WBE Certified Business

518-962-4977 • PO Box 84, Elizabethtown, NY 12932

sheri@exploringnature.org • www.exploringnature.org

To: Jukka Saarikorpi
Photographer

Dear Mr. Saarikorpi ,

I am a 9-year-old school girl, working on a research project about ocean pollution. 6 children in our class, including me, were chosen to represent our school in a national exhibition.

I have used an article on the Mail Online (Daily Mail) that showed you and your fiancée swimming in plastic (<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-5360749/Indonesian-ocean-paradise-destroyed-plastic.html>

) as one of my many sources, and referenced it in my bibliography. With my father's help, who is a web developer, I would like to create my own web page for my research project to be shown during the exhibition.

I would like to ask you for permission to include your photo found in your facebook page that was used also in the article (<https://www.facebook.com/jukkisphoto/photos/a.393021307567884/874093912793952/?type=3&theater>). I would make sure to include it as is with your name, copyright and website. If you wish I can also send you the link to the web page my father and I will create once it is ready.

Thanks and regards,

Cristina Mifsud Bons

Year 5.1

St Nicholas College

Rabat, Malta

JS: yes - go ahead.